“ I have been actively searching the name of Powhatan Leflore Fluker since the death of my father Ore Lee Spragin, Sr. (January 1995) because he was described to me as Daddy's best friend. I wanted to let him know that Daddy had passed. Daddy had only 4 men that I know of that Daddy actually called friend. I remember when my parents would visit the Flukers. Most times we (my brother and I) would stay in the car. I read the obituary and that Dr. Fluker and Daddy shared a lot in common. Thank you Sir for being a friend to my father. I heard your name often while growing up and it was always spoken with a fondness and smile. You were in a very special class. I send my belated condolences and prayers for continued strength and comfort to his family.

“ I worked as Dr. Fluke's graduate assistant in 1988. He was also my instructor 1989 during that time I thought he was a hard teacher. But one day he called me in his office for counseling. He said Thurman if you are going to be late for work you may as well stay home. Then he asked does the Army allow you to be late for activities? I replied “No”. He smiled and said “treat me like you treat the Army”. Our relationship became one of respect. But the life long lesson for me has been one of be a mentor, treat everyone with dignity and respect. Thank you Dr. Fluker for helping me to become the man, husband, father, mentor, soldier, teacher and worker I have become. Rest in Peace. I hate I did not get to personally tell your family the impact you made on me.
